|------------------------|--------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|---------------------------------|-----------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|----------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| DAY 1Sukkot | Avrahamאברהם | ChesedLovingkindness | Avraham looked beyond himself, welcomed strangers, and was promised that all the families of the earth would be blessed through him.    | Geula begins when we imagine a larger world — and plant seeds whose fulfillment may be beyond our lifetime.    |
| DAY 2Sukkot | Yitzchakיצחק | GevurahStrength      | Yitzchak reopened the wells of Avraham that had been blocked with stones and dirt.                                                      | Geula asks us to uncover, restore and allow what has been blocked to flow again.                               |
| DAY 3Sukkot | Yaakovיעקב   | TiferetHarmony       | Yaakov becomes Yisroel, and from him arise twelve distinct tribes.                                                                      | Geula calls us toward unity — a wholeness which respects differences.                                          |
| DAY 4Sukkot | Mosheמשה     | NetzachEndurance     | Moshe led us through the first Redemption out of Egypt, and worked toward bringing us to the Promised Land without entering it himself. | Geula asks that we do the work even if we may not see it through to completion.                                |
| DAY 5Sukkot | Aharonאהרן  | HodHumility          | Aharon is remembered as one who loved peace and pursued peace.                                                                          | Geula starts within and reaching out to heal the divisions between us.                                         |
| DAY 6Sukkot | Yosefיוסף  | YesodConnection      | Yosef stayed true to his roots and the teachings of his father.                                                                         | Geula gathers what has been scattered and reconnects what has been separated.                                  |
| DAY 7Sukkot | Davidדוד   | MalchutSovereignty   | David is remembered as the forefather of the Davidic dynasty from whom Moshiach will come.                                              | Geula culminates not merely in a better world order, but in a world that recognizes the Sovereignty of HaShem. |
